Mexico continues attracting foreign investment

Despite the global economic crisis, in 2011 Mexico received almost 20 billion dollars of Foreign Direct Investment (FDI), consolidating Mexico as one of the top recipients of FDI among emerging economies in the world.

In the decade of the 80's, Mexico received an annual average of 3 billion dollars in direct investment flows. Currently, this amount has multiplied by seven, reaching an annual average of 22.8 billion dollars between 2000 and 2011, with which Mexico has registered an accumulated amount of 273.4 billion dollars.

As for the origin of this FDI, the United States (US) and the European Union (EU) represent the most important sources of investment in Mexico, contributing respectively with 50.4% and 37.1% of capitals invested in Mexico since 2000. At an individual country level, Spain, the Netherlands, Canada and United Kingdom participate with 15.1%, 14.2%, 4.0% and 3.0% respectively in the FDI received by Mexico.

From a sectorial perspective, Mexico's manufacturing industry and the financial services sector top among the most preferred investment targets. Among the manufacturing sectors, the main recipients are automotive, iron and steel, beverages and chemicals.

EU's investment in Mexico

The EU has strengthened its position as second investor in Mexico. Since 2000, year of the entry into force of the Free Trade Agreement between Mexico and the EU (MEUFTA), European investment in Mexico has grown considerably, at an annual average of 8.4 billion dollars (which compares favorably with 2.3 billion dollars annual flow reported previous to the Treaty).

Only in 2011, the EU invested in Mexico 5.3 billion dollars, which represents 28% of the total FDI received in that year. In fact, under MEUFTA, the EU has been the main investor in Mexico in three occasions (2004, 2007 and 2010). Consequently, the sum of the EU investment in Mexico reaches 101.3 billion dollars, accumulated between 2000 and 2011.

FDI of the European Union in Mexico 2000-2011

Almost 40% of the EU investment in Mexico concentrates on manufacturing activities, among those stand out beverage, automotive and food sectors.

Final remarks

In the context of the current world economic crisis, Mexico put on test its strong structural bases, reaching in 2010 an impressive rate of 5.5% of economic growth and almost 4% in 2011. With it, Mexico consolidates as a stable and competitive economy for global investment.

Furthermore, Mexico offers the legal security required by international investors. Together with its network of Free Trade Agreements which provides a guaranteed preferential access to the most important markets in the world, Mexico has established Bilateral Investment Treaties (BIT's) with several countries, such as:

- In Europe, with 16 of the EU Member States (Austria, Belgium, Czech Republic, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Portugal, Spain, Sweden and United Kingdom), as well as Switzerland, Iceland and Belarus.
- In Latin America and the Caribbean, with Argentina, Cuba, Panama, Uruguay, and Trinidad and Tobago.
- In Asia and Oceania, with China, India, South Korea, Singapore and Australia.

Nissan increases its production in Mexico

Nissan Motor announced its investment plans of $2 billion dollars (bd) to build a new advanced manufacturing complex in the Mexican State of Aguascalientes.

The first stage of this new facility will begin operations at the end of 2013 with a production capacity of more than 175,000 vehicles, creating more than 3,000 direct employments, along with 9,000 indirect jobs. Thus, Nissan will have three plants in Mexico and approximately 13,500 employees.

In 2011, Nissan celebrated its record of production with more than 600,000 vehicles assembled in its Mexican plants. With this new investment, Nissan will be prepared to produce, in the medium term, one million units annually in Mexico.

Honda to install new plant in Mexico

Honda announced the construction of a new plant in Mexico for the production of subcompact vehicles, which represents an investment of $800 million dollars (md) and an additional production capacity of 200,000 units per year to be oriented to the Mexican and North American Market.

This new Honda facility in Mexico will begin operations in 2014, employing approximately 3,200 associates. It will be located in the State of Guanajuato and will be additional to the two existing facilities in the State of Jalisco.

Coca cola increases its investment in Mexico

In the framework of the World Economic Forum that took place in Davos, Switzerland, the President of Mexico, Felipe Calderón, held a meeting with the CEO of Coca-Cola, Muhtar Kent, who presented its expansion plans in Mexico, including a new investment of $1 bd during 2012, as part of a total investment estimated in $5 bd for the following years.

Coca-Cola has created 10,000 jobs in Mexico during the last five years and expects to generate 10,000 additional jobs in the next five years.

Ferrero Group to open a chocolate factory in México

The Italian conglomerate Ferrero Group announced its $190 md investment to build a chocolate manufacturing plant in San José Iturbide, Guanajuato, where it will create 500 direct jobs.

In the presence of the President of Mexico, Felipe Calderón, the CEO of Ferrero Group for the Americas, Australia and the United Kingdom, Giuseppe D'Angelo, reported that this new manufacturing plant will supply the markets of United States, Canada, Mexico and Central America.

Ferrero Group is the fourth worldwide candy producer and the third for chocolate, and its global sales exceeded 7 billion euros in 2011.

Ericsson opened in Mexico its first global service center in the Americas

Ericsson, a Swedish global company, invested $20 md in its Global Services Center (GSC) located in Mexico City. It will serve, through a highly skilled staff, both local and international clients, offering remote services in areas such as technical support, software application, integration, design, optimization, operation and telecommunication network management.

This is Ericsson's only center in the American Continent and its fourth worldwide.

Mazda and Sumitomo to establish an automotive plant in Mexico

Mazda and Sumitomo started the construction of a new facility in Mexico for the joint production of engines and vehicles, with an investment of $500 md, and in which the new generation of Mazda 2 and Mazda 3 models will be produced.

This new manufacturing plant, located in Salamanca, Mexico, will start operations in the fiscal year that begins in April 2014, with a production capacity of 140,000 units per year. This facility will be crucial to Mazda's expansion plans in Central and South America.
